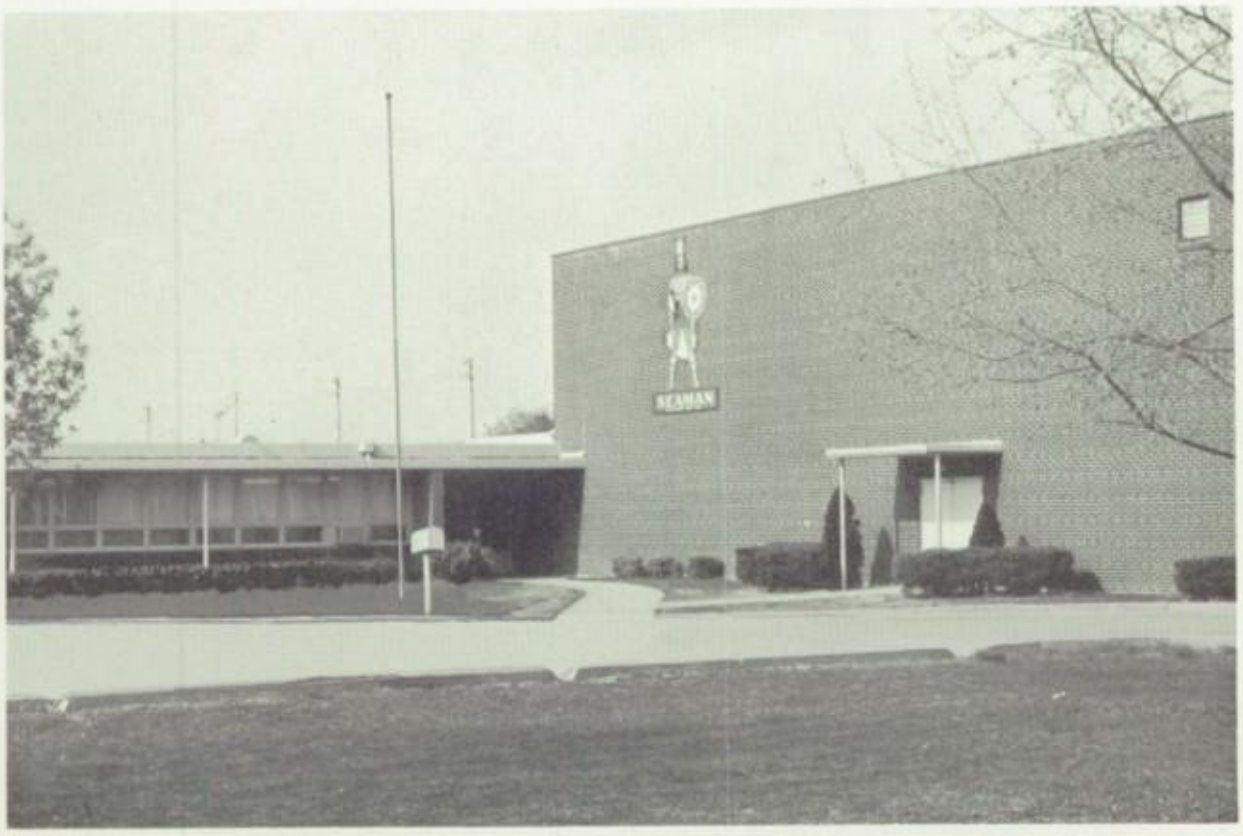
The SEAMAN '64



FOREWORD

THE 1963-64 school year was a memorable time for all Vikings. During this year Seaman experienced a new student council, a dress code, and a new junior high. For the first time in the school's history, no freshmen attended Seaman. Viking school spirit prevailed throughout the year spurring achievements in athletics, music and debate. It was in this year of change that the shattering news of President Kennedy's assassination was heard. The nation was stunned, but remained united and quickly recovered.

No matter how exciting or tragic the various memories of this year may be, the day will come when 1964 Seaman students will say, "Yes, I remember SHS."

DEDICATION

Mrs. Anna Fisher

Miss Dora Wilson

Mr. John Hiller

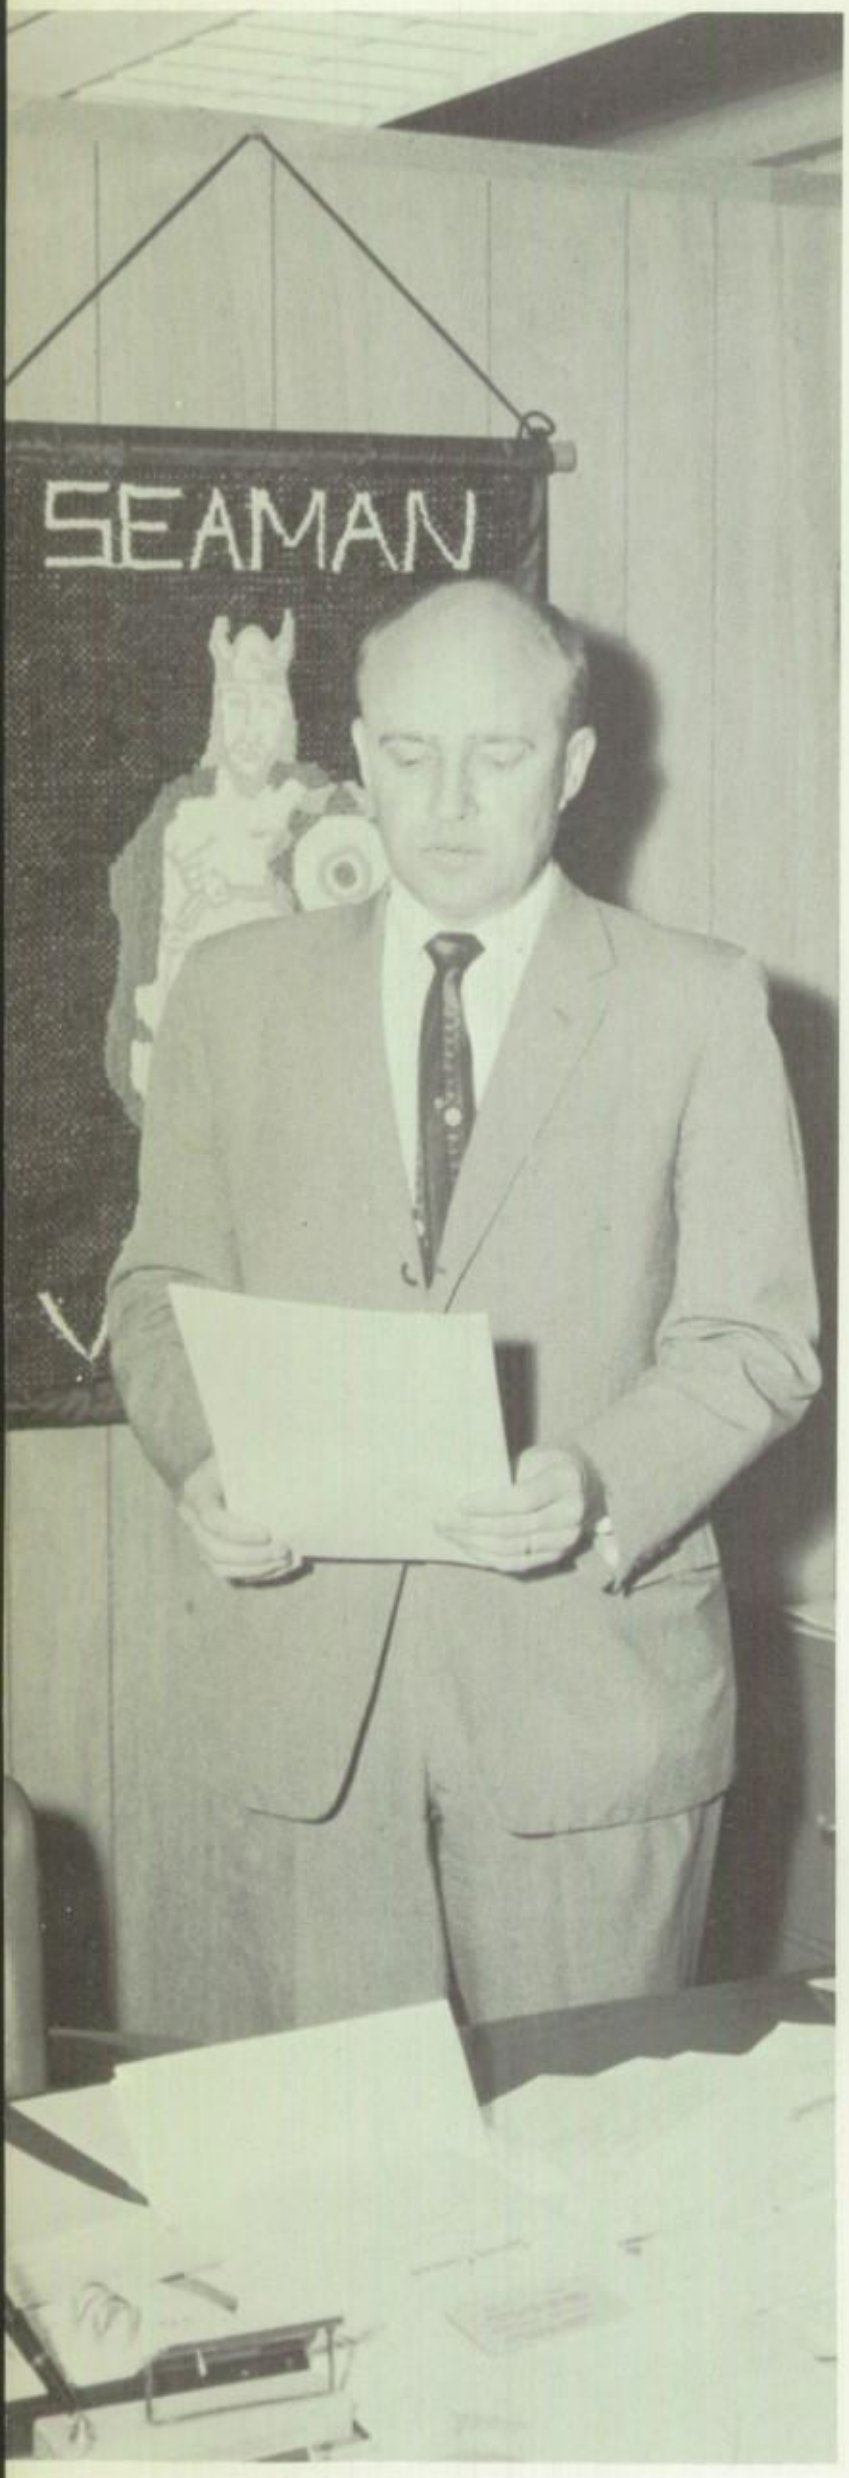
THE FINEST type of leadership is necessary to maintain high scholastic standards and a stimulating extracurricular program in an American high school. With great respect and appreciation, the Yearbook Staff dedicates this 1964 edition of THE SEAMAN to Mrs. Anna Fisher, Miss Dora Wilson, and Mr. John Hiller, who have provided such leadership for Seaman.

Mrs. Anna Fisher, a member of the English department since 1958, has taught at Seaman for twenty years. She wrote the constitution and provided the framework for the Vi-Queens Club, which she sponsored.

Miss Wilson, third art teacher at Seaman, served the school for sixteen years. She originated the Art Club and has been its sole sponsor. In 1962, she was instrumental in planning Seaman's new art center.

Mr. John Hiller, an active community leader, has served on the Seaman school board as president for the past four years. During these years of growth and change, he has supplied guidance and given direction to many programs benefiting the Seaman school district.

ADMINISTRATION



MR. COLAW, Superintendent.

THE NEW position of superintendent is held by Seaman's former principal, Mr. Frank Colaw. His job is to supervise the operation of both the Northern Hills Junior High School and Seaman Rural High School.

He also assumes the position of executive officer of the Board of Education. His office is located in Seaman's annex, but he also spends part of his time at Northern Hills Junior High.

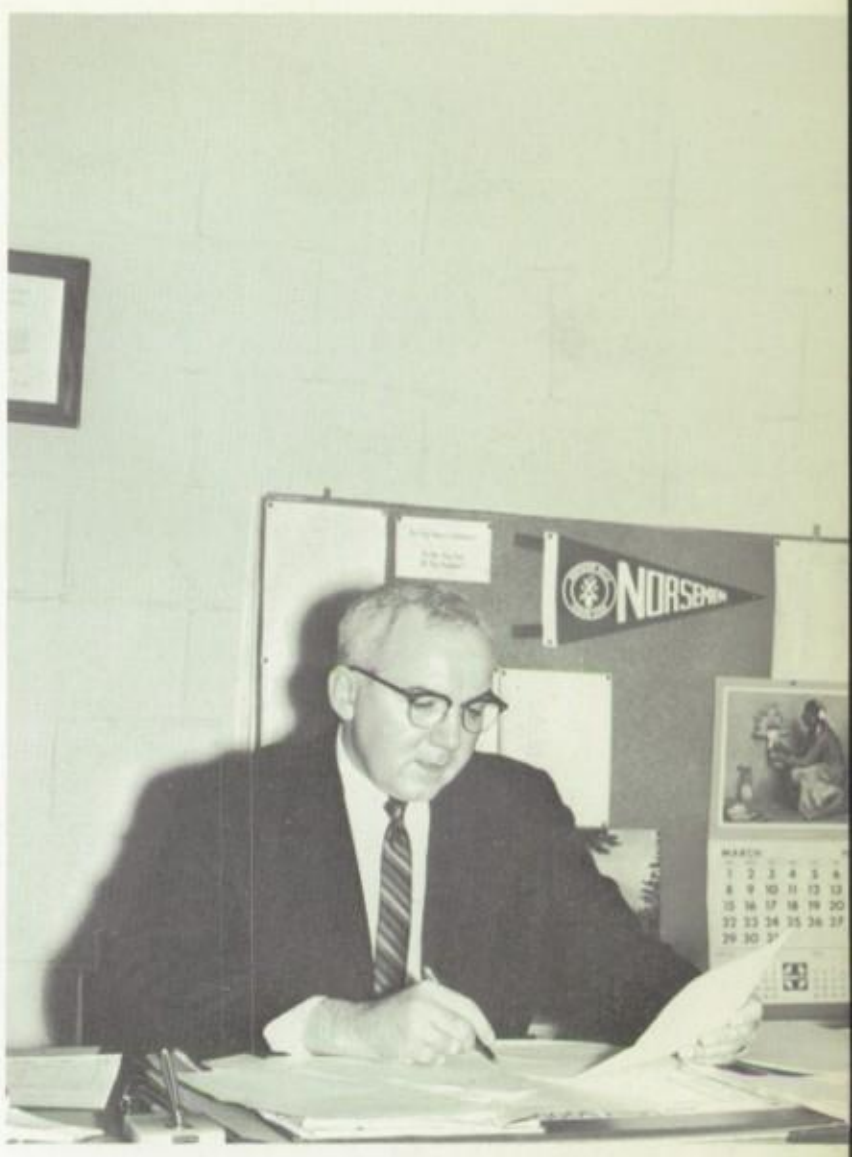
The school board, devoting many hours to the growth and improvement of Seaman, establishes school policies which are proposed by the administrators.

Hiller, Skinner, Edwards,

& SCHOOL BOARD

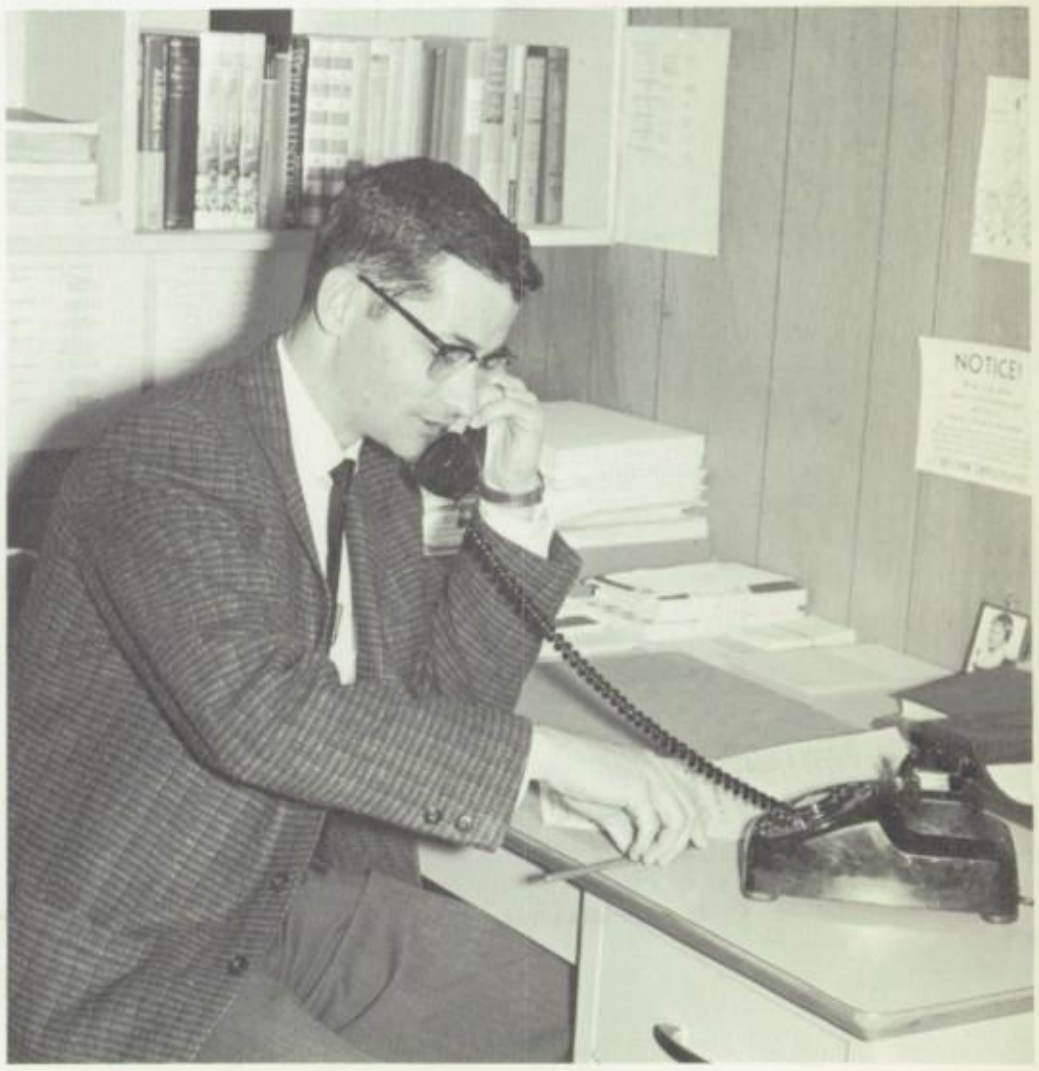
MR. BRUCE FREDERICK occupies the position of principal. Among his numerous duties are: (1) administration and supervision of the educational program; (2) staff personnel management; (3) general school operation and management; (4) pupil personnel administration and auxiliary services and; (5) school plant operations and maintenance.

Most men in this position would find the complexity of these duties difficult, but Mr. Fredrick has the ability to carry out these obligations with a high degree of expertness.



MR. RICHARD LAUFFER, the Vice-Principal, assumes all administration duties when the principal is not in the building. Mr. Lauffer takes responsibility for the many details of daily school operation that must be handled efficiently and reliably.

Hutton, Colaw, Whaley.



BEHIND THE SCENES

Mrs. Curry, Mrs. Hood, Mrs. Besser, and Mrs. Whiteman pause from their many duties to be photographed.

Mrs. Betty Brady, secretary to Mr. Colaw, is busy checking the files.

Mr. Burk, Mr. Erwin, Mr. Randall, and Mr. Rise gather in the north hall.

Don't you even have time to look up from your work, Mrs. Loss?

DEPARTMENTS

SOCIAL

Mrs. Mauck outlines her notes for class.

This class diligently researches the economic problems and situations of our times.

TODAY, modern students learn methods of adjusting to society through social studies. This department provides courses in such areas as people, history, economics, government, and the future. The process of intelligent voting is learned through student elections; being informed in current events through newspaper and magazine articles; and the laws of our land through study of the Constitution.

These juniors find American history can be interesting.

STUDIES

Mr. Emrich's goal is to aid his students in becoming good, solid citizens.

American problem students study the functions of our government and of our democratic living.

Mr. Emrich, Mr. Hyrnewich, Mr. Edson, and Mr. Lauffer, the social studies teachers, are interested in world affairs.

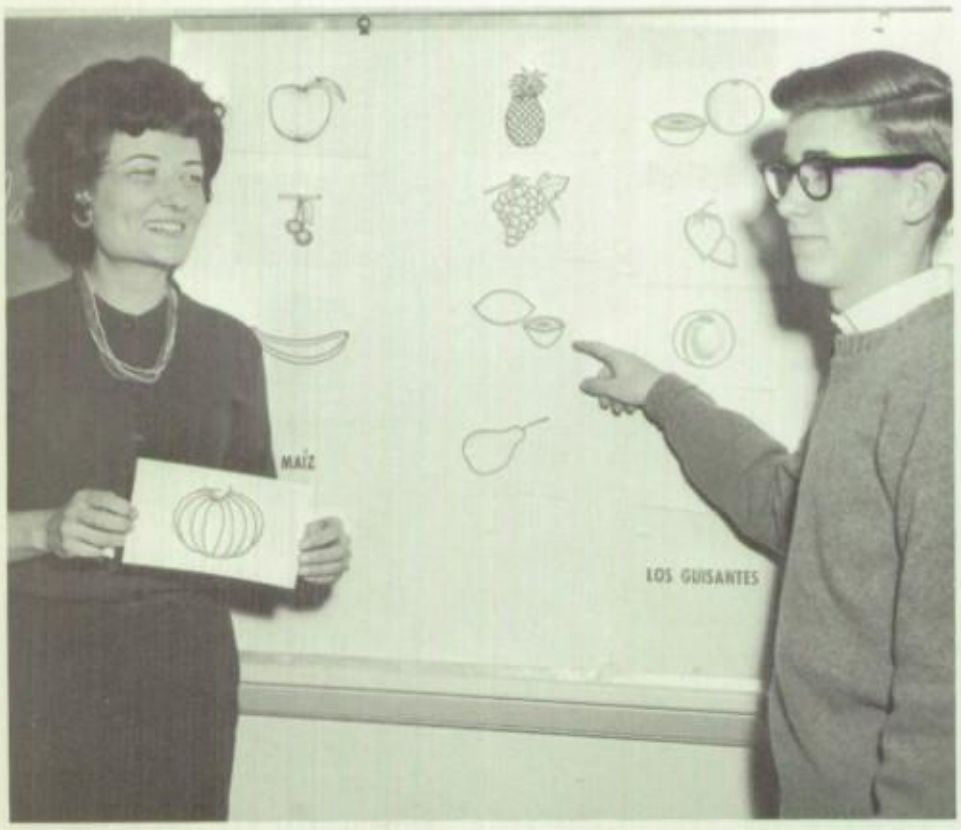
FOREIGN LANGUAGE

THE SEAMAN foreign language department offers as much as four years of Spanish and three years of French. Miss Barbara Medford and Miss Frances Miley, instructors, used the new oral approach to teaching languages, giving the students experience at both hearing and speaking words of a new language. To broaden the interest and experience in foreign languages, third and fourth year Spanish classes and third year French classes made special trips to movies, art museums, and restaurants in Kansas City and Topeka.

The foreign language department also sponsored an annual language banquet for students having completed one year of a foreign language. The dinner of French and Spanish foods was followed with a program of French and Spanish skits.

Miss Medford watches as Barbara Wenger and David Mazer struggle with their French dialogue.

Miss Medford and Miss Miley, foreign language teachers, stop to say hello between classes.



Miss Miley and Russ Robison drill the class on the Spanish names of foods.

Spanish and French students enjoy their banquet.

Ole! Linda Wright and Orleen Suddarth demonstrate a Spanish dance.

French Club members perform a skit.

SCIENCE

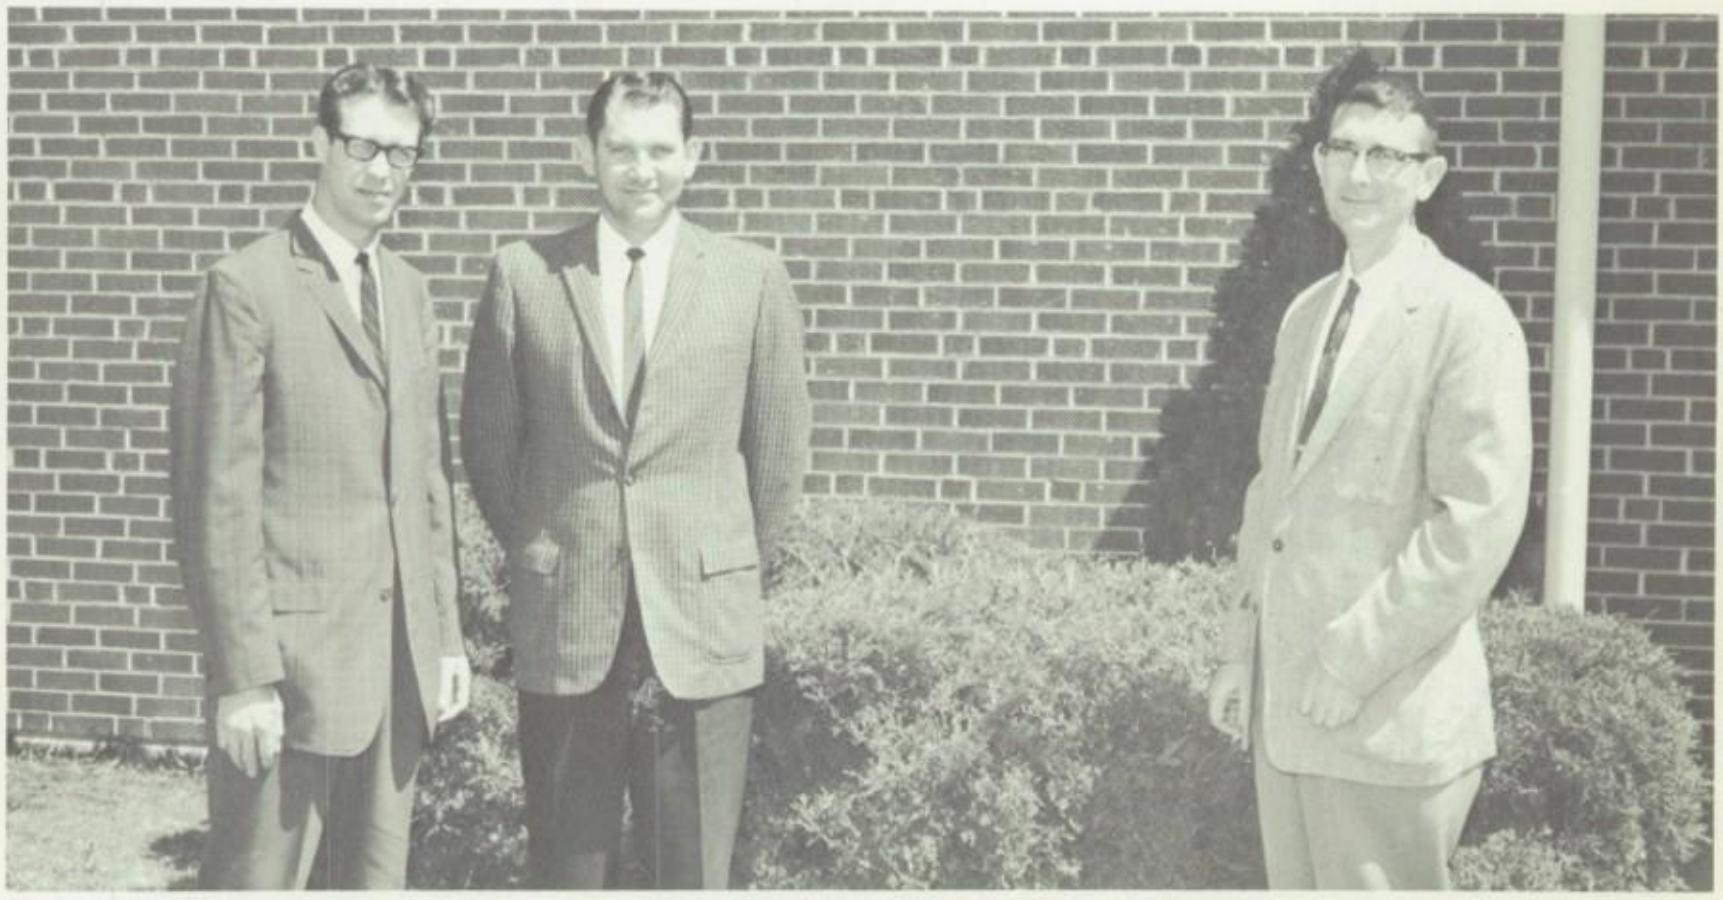
Jerry Kingsley examines the results of an experiment.

THE NEED for scientific knowledge in modern civilization is becoming greater and greater. Without science there would be no progress in life; thus, science will always be important in education. Biology, chemistry, physics, and a newly added modern earth science class provide Seaman students with a well rounded background in this area. Modern earth science furnishes students with facts and ideas from various areas of scientific thought.

Mr. Freel and his biology students classify a butterfly for an insect collection.

Jerry Kingsley, Mr. Willis, and Robert Ludwig explore the world of science through experimentation.

Mr. Johnson's fifth hour modern earth science class is able to smile at the beginning of another test.



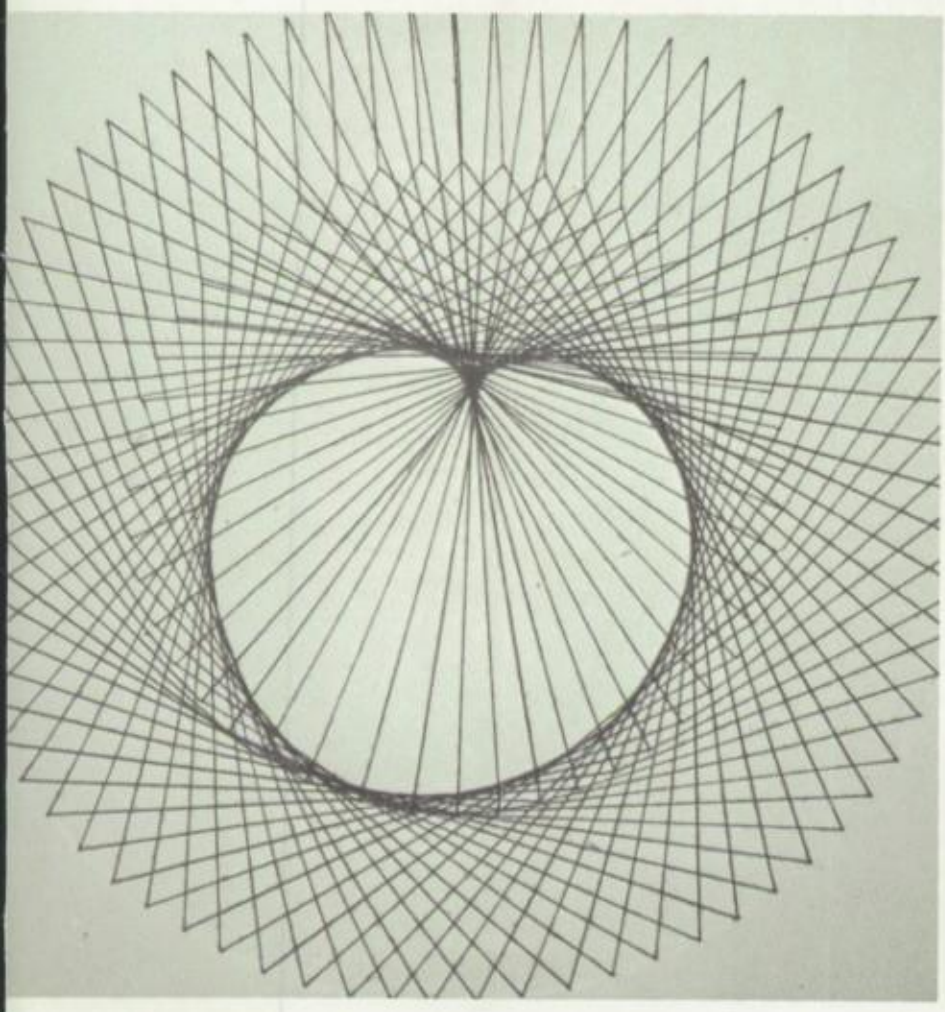
The science department is represented by Mr. Willis, Mr. Johnson, Mr. Freel, and Mr. Bowser. Mr. Bowser teaches only one biology class at Seaman and the rest of his day is spent at Northern Hills Junior High.

MATH

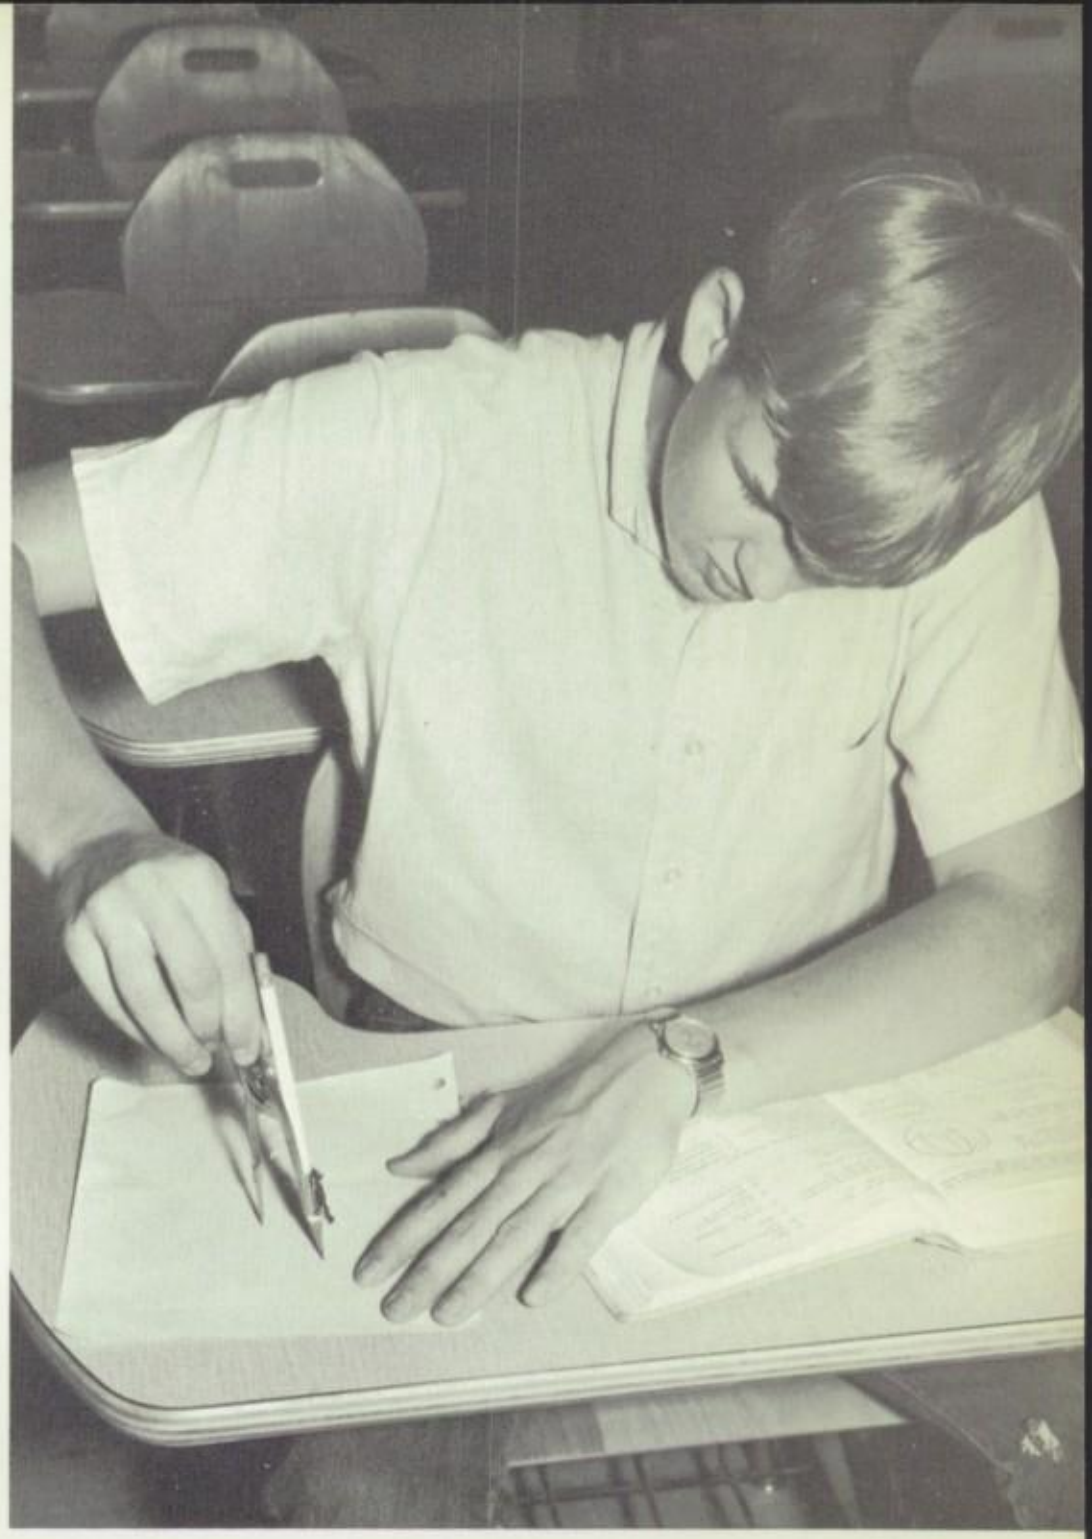
Math teachers-Mr. Nachtigall, Mr. Bierman, Mr. Johnson, and Mr. Willis-discuss a difficult math problem.

Mr. Johnson reviews with his Algebra I class.

THE MATHEMATICS department serves all students, as some type of mathematics is used in every person's life; it may be only the counting of money or it may be devising formulas for electronic brains. Applied mathematics, general mathematics, Algebra I, geometry, Algebra II, trigonometry, probability and statistical inference, and an advanced mathematic course offer Seaman students a well-rounded education in mathematics.

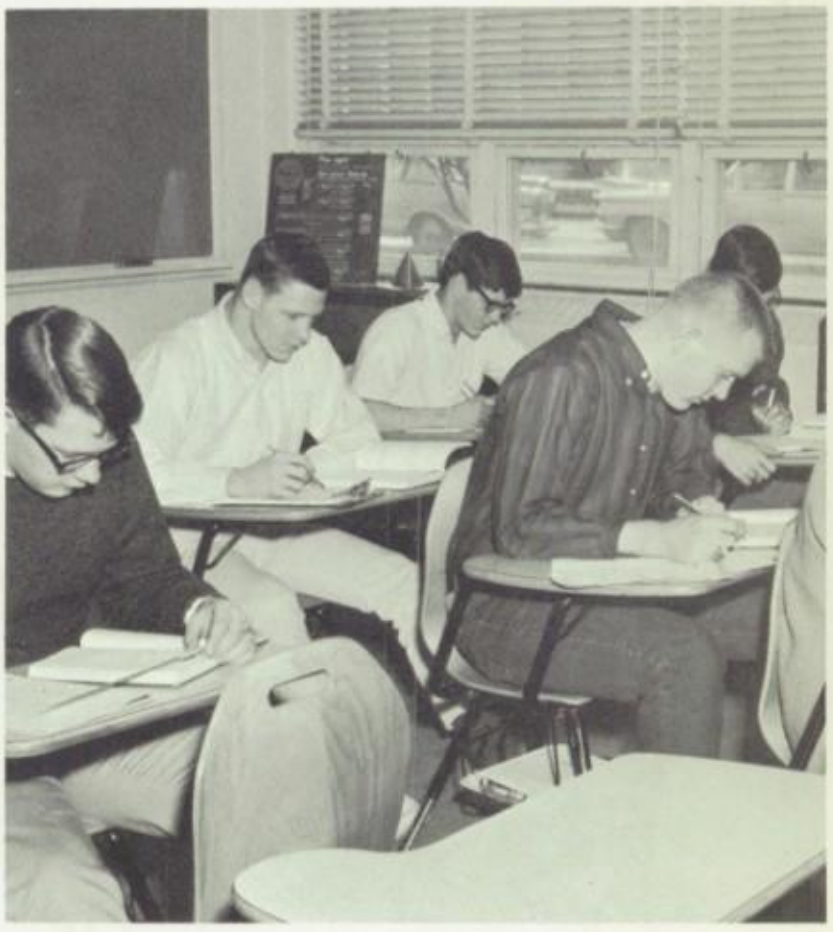


A math student provides an appropriate project on Valentines Day.



Larry Heller constructs figures for Geometry.

Mr. Nachtigall illustrates a problem for his Algebra III class.



The trigonometry students show deep concentration in working daily assignments.

LANGUAGE ARTS

Mrs. Hoad, Mrs. Donahue, Mr. Eichman, Mr. Mount, and Mr. Edson examine new library books for the language arts department.

Mr. Eichman leads a discussion in developmental reading class.

James VanOrsdol adds a touch of humor to his speech.

Mary Williams delivers an interesting speech to her class.

Mrs. Kowol writes the daily assignment on the board.

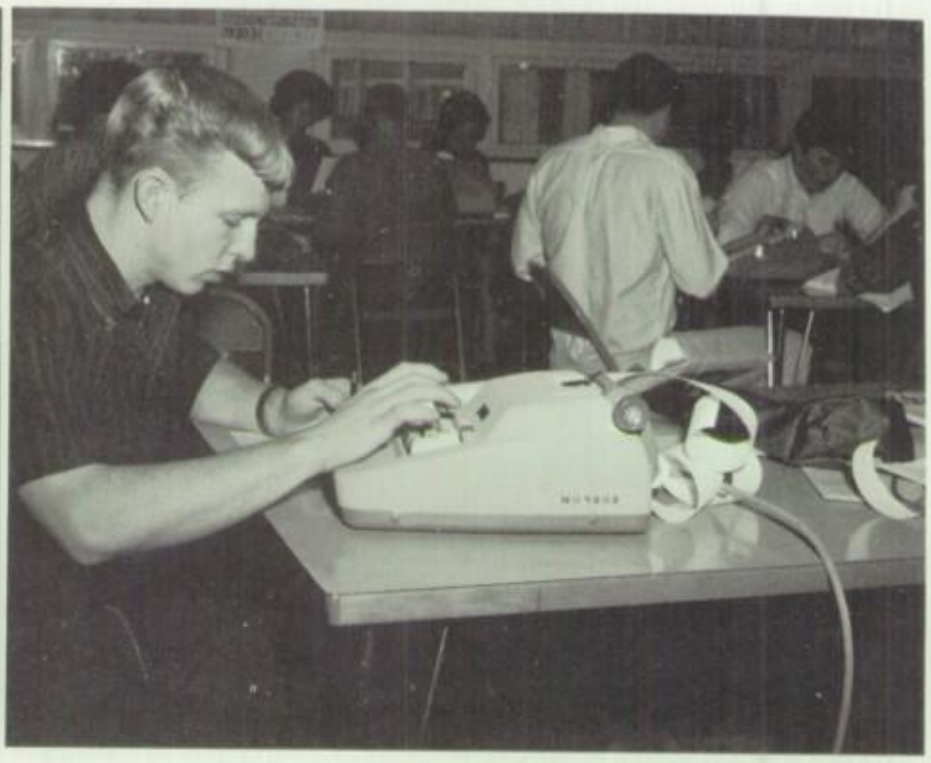
LANGUAGE ARTS, one of the largest departments, helps Seaman students learn the correct techniques of communication through courses in English speech, drama, journalism, yearbook, and debate. Most employers believe that speaking and writing are leading requirements for success; thus, emphasis is put on these areas of language. To aid the instructors, the Seaman language arts department purchased new books, a tape recorder, a record player, and literary records. A four-weeks unit of independent study was carried out in the senior college preparatory classes by a small group of students who prepared lessons in the humanities, using the library's new set of GREAT BOOKS OF THE WESTERN WORLD.

BUSINESS

Different forms of calculation can be made much easier with a machine.

CLANKING typewriters and scratching pencils create a business-like atmosphere in the business classrooms. Training facilities for students interested in careers as secretaries, stenographers, and business accountants are provided, and students learn the disciplines of a business career.

Don Willard appears uneasy as he takes a speed test on the adding machine.



Miss Ward and Sharon Rise both agree that a good typist must practice.

Patsy Newman's speed increased considerably in Shorthand II.

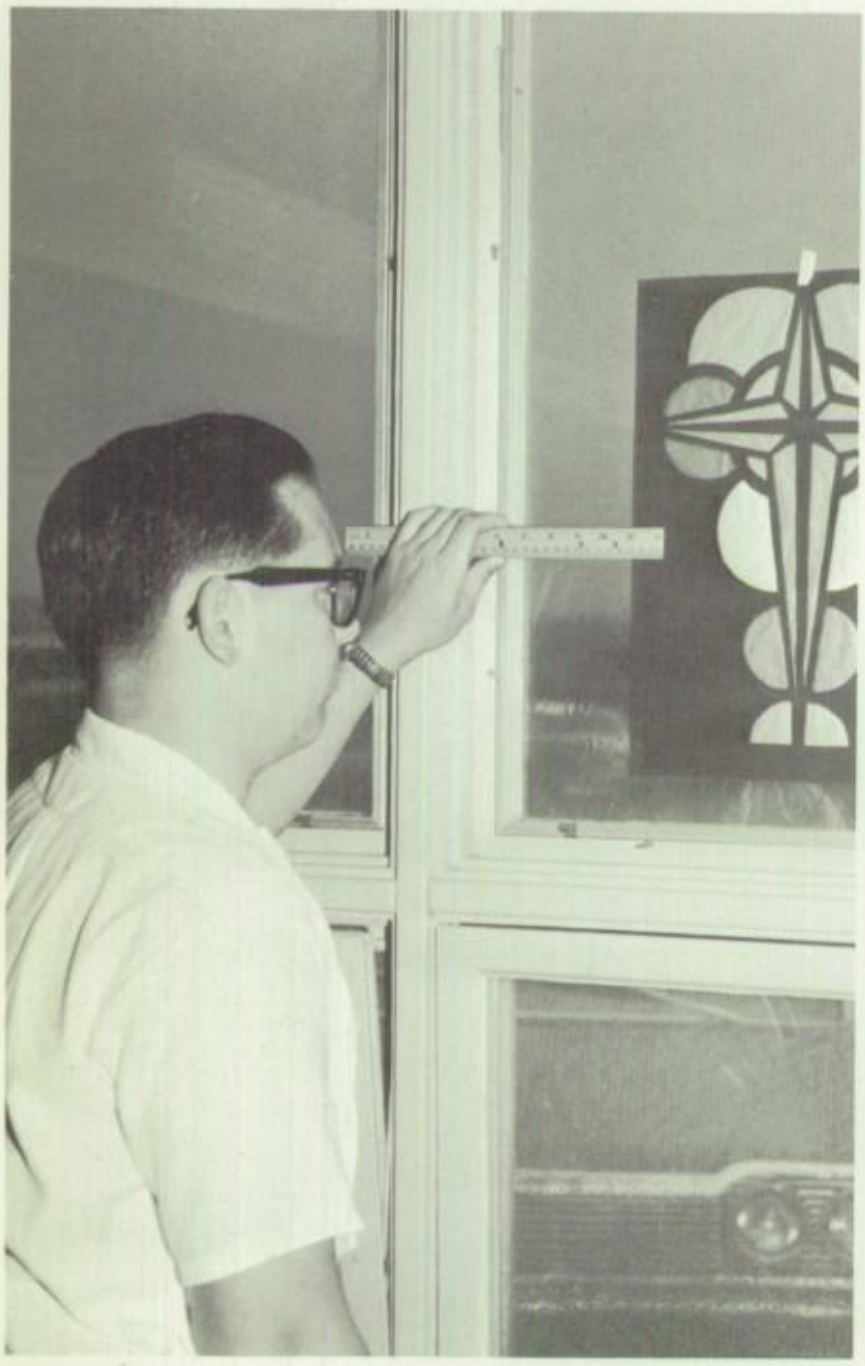
Business teachers Bierman, Woodburn, Ward, and Byrne discuss a newly typed stencil.

Typing I students in Mrs. Woodburn's class are beginning to master a skill that previously seemed impossible.

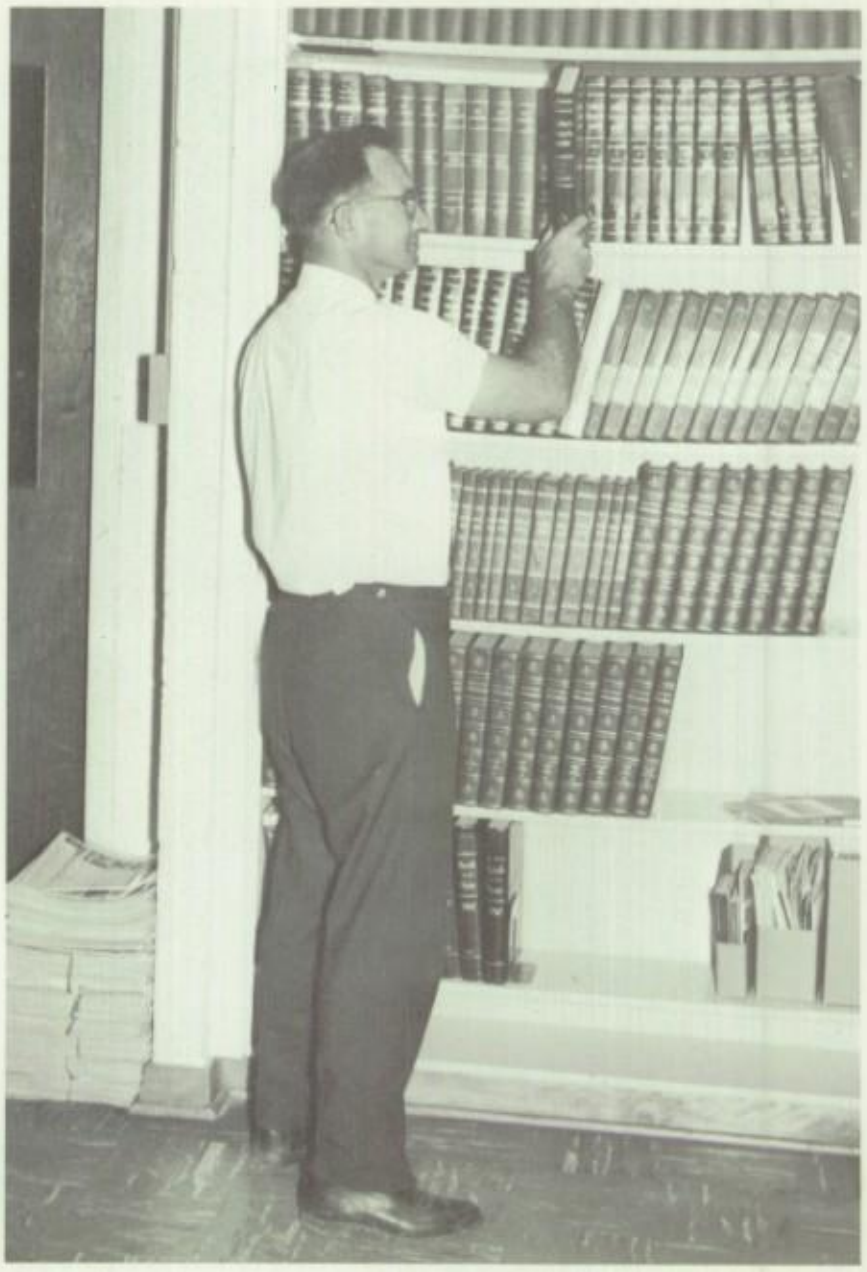
FINE

Quiet. We're studying!

David Saile centers picture for window.



Mr. Sims has greatly improved our library facilities.



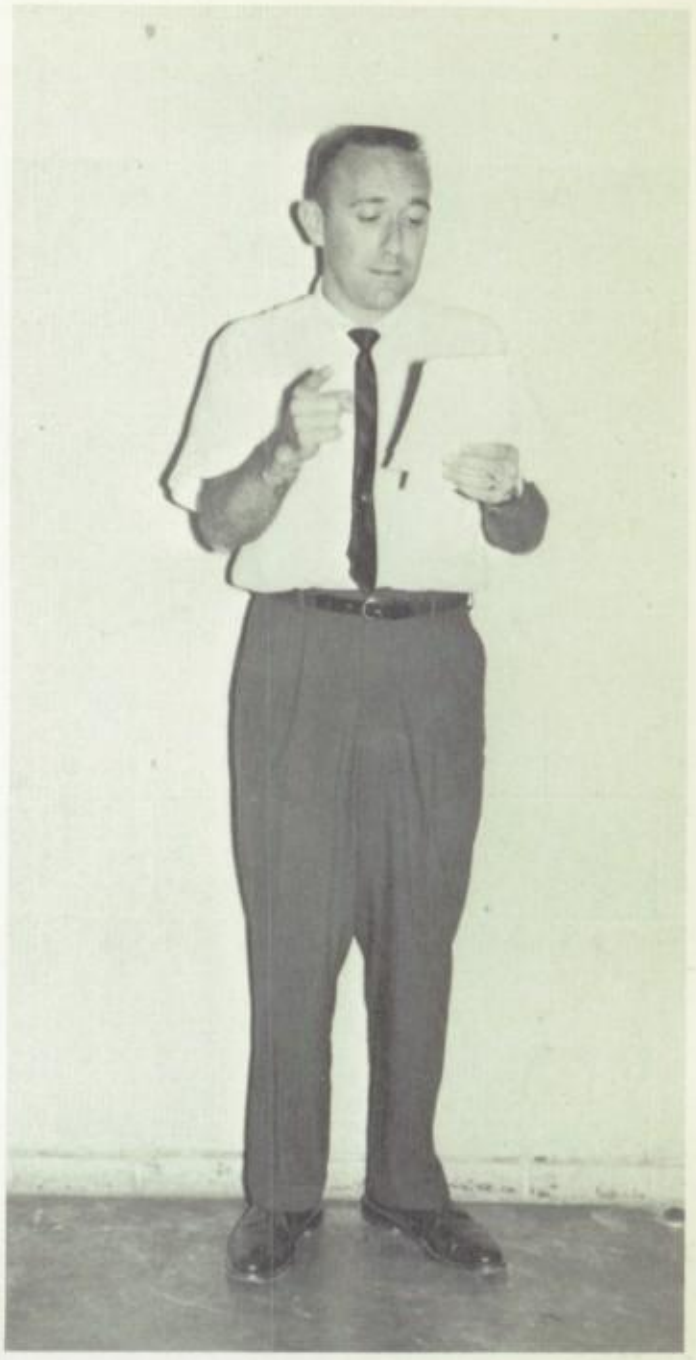
No wonder we have such a good choir.

ARTS

THE FINE ARTS department provides the opportunity for learning to appreciate and interpert the classics in music and in art.

The music department aids the individual in appreciating the numerous experiences of good music, promotes social development, and widens cultural horizons. Students learn to respect and recognize the great musicians, composers, and their works.

Knowledge, gained from a study of design and color, is applied, with various media, to the following ART problems: nature drawing, still life, landscape, figure drawing, perspective, interior decoration, architecture, and community planning. Craft classes explore ceramics, metal, and miscellaneous crafts.

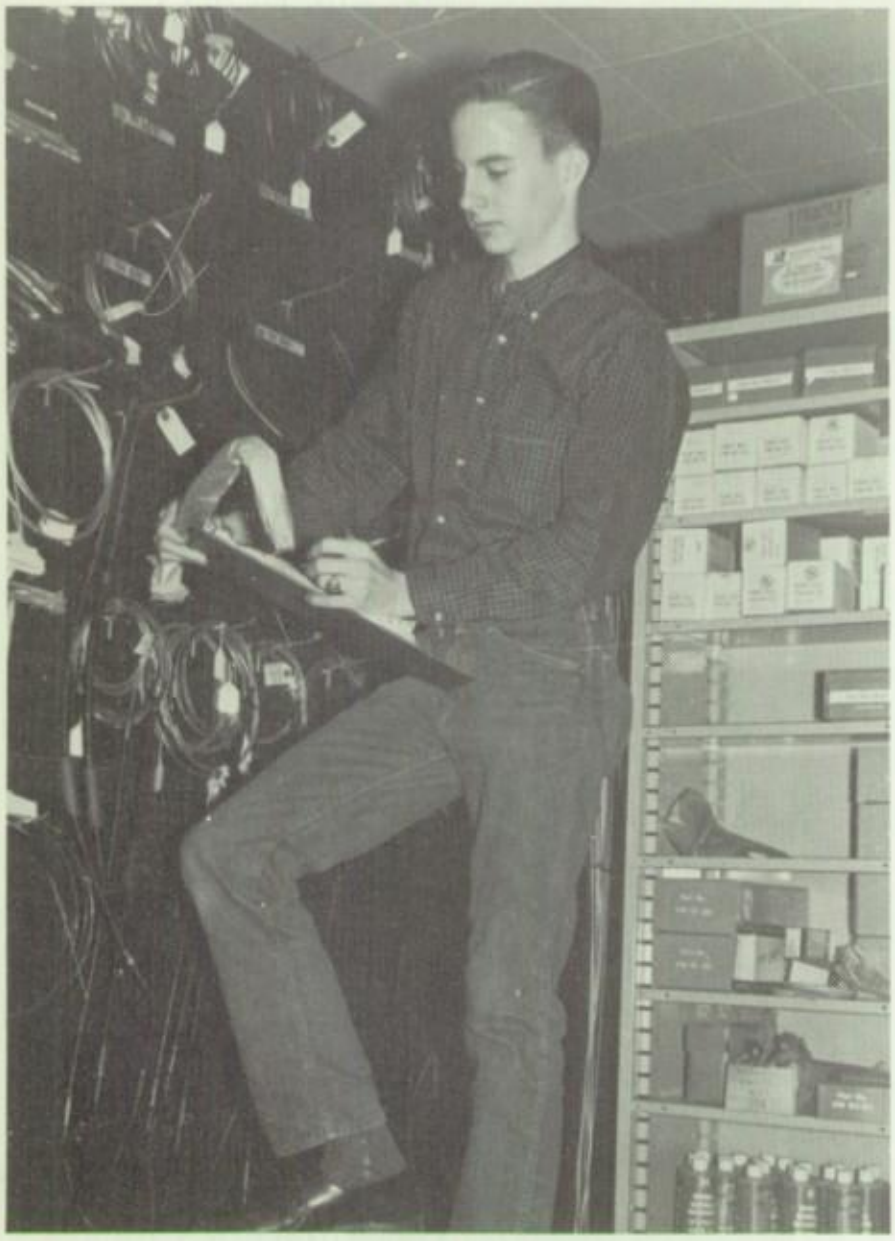


Let's take that from the top.

Is it done yet?

Miss Wilson instructs her students in creative arts.

TRADE AND INDUSTRIES



Larry Davis takes inventory of automotive parts.

COOPERATIVE Industrial Training (Trade and Industry) was a new class this year for Seaman students. Students attended two hours of required subjects, two hours of T & I classes, and then each individual worked on-the-job in the afternoon.

The T & I club sponsored the sale of sweatshirts for Seaman students. The group took several field trips during the year. A first place trophy was won for their club display, "Bridging the Gap between School and Work," at the Spring Leadership Conference held at Kansas State Teachers College of Emporia. Each student entered a contest at the Leadership Conference. April 30, the club held the first Employer-Employee Banquet to honor their employers. The club also took part in designing the T & I pin for the state of Kansas.

Mr. Lundgrin

Patty Simpson takes a patient's pulse.

Ron DeHart works with sheet metal.

VOCATIONAL ARTS

A CHANGING world with its new needs must be reflected in our offerings if they are to be useful. Seaman students are fortunate to have a well rounded curriculum for present and future needs in the vocational arts department.

The home economics curriculum has a new 1964 look as a result of its correlation with home economic offerings at Northern Hills Junior High. Six semesters of advanced work in separate fields give choice and breadth in the home economics field at Seaman.

The vocational arts department also offers agriculture, shop, electricity, industrial arts, mechanical drawing, building trades, and trade and industry.

Miss Cox aids future homemakers with a sewing project. She and Mrs. Rhea comprise the members of the Home Ec. Department.

The carpentry class finally finishes the outside of their house.

Mr. Kugler

Mr. Smith instructs Jerry Morgan in F.F.A. class.

Mechanical drawings must be very precise. Mr. Hoch explains as he checks Kenny Everett's work.

PHYSICAL

Mr. Nicholson

Miss Glick

EDUCATION

NINETY-TWO girls participated in a wide variety of sports in three classes of physical education. During the fall, the girls ventured outdoors to participate in field sports, such as soccer, field hockey, and speed-away. When the cold weather forced them inside, they enjoyed volleyball, badminton, basketball, tumbling, and bowling.

The Senior Leader program is for girls having above-average skill and knowledge of the sports. The program provides these girls an opportunity to further their leadership abilities.

Miss Glick gives final instructions to her physical education class.

Steve Dillon demonstrates his ability on the parallel bars.

STRONG, co-ordinated, and skilled bodies were achievements of the Physical Education II and III boys. The boys participated in speedball, volleyball, tennis, softball, and other vigorous activities. Boys who showed an interest in physical education became Senior Leaders, if they passed the following three requirements: (1) scoring in the upper 20% of the nation in the Physical Fitness Test; (2) receiving a "B" in the preceding semester of physical education; (3) getting along with others.

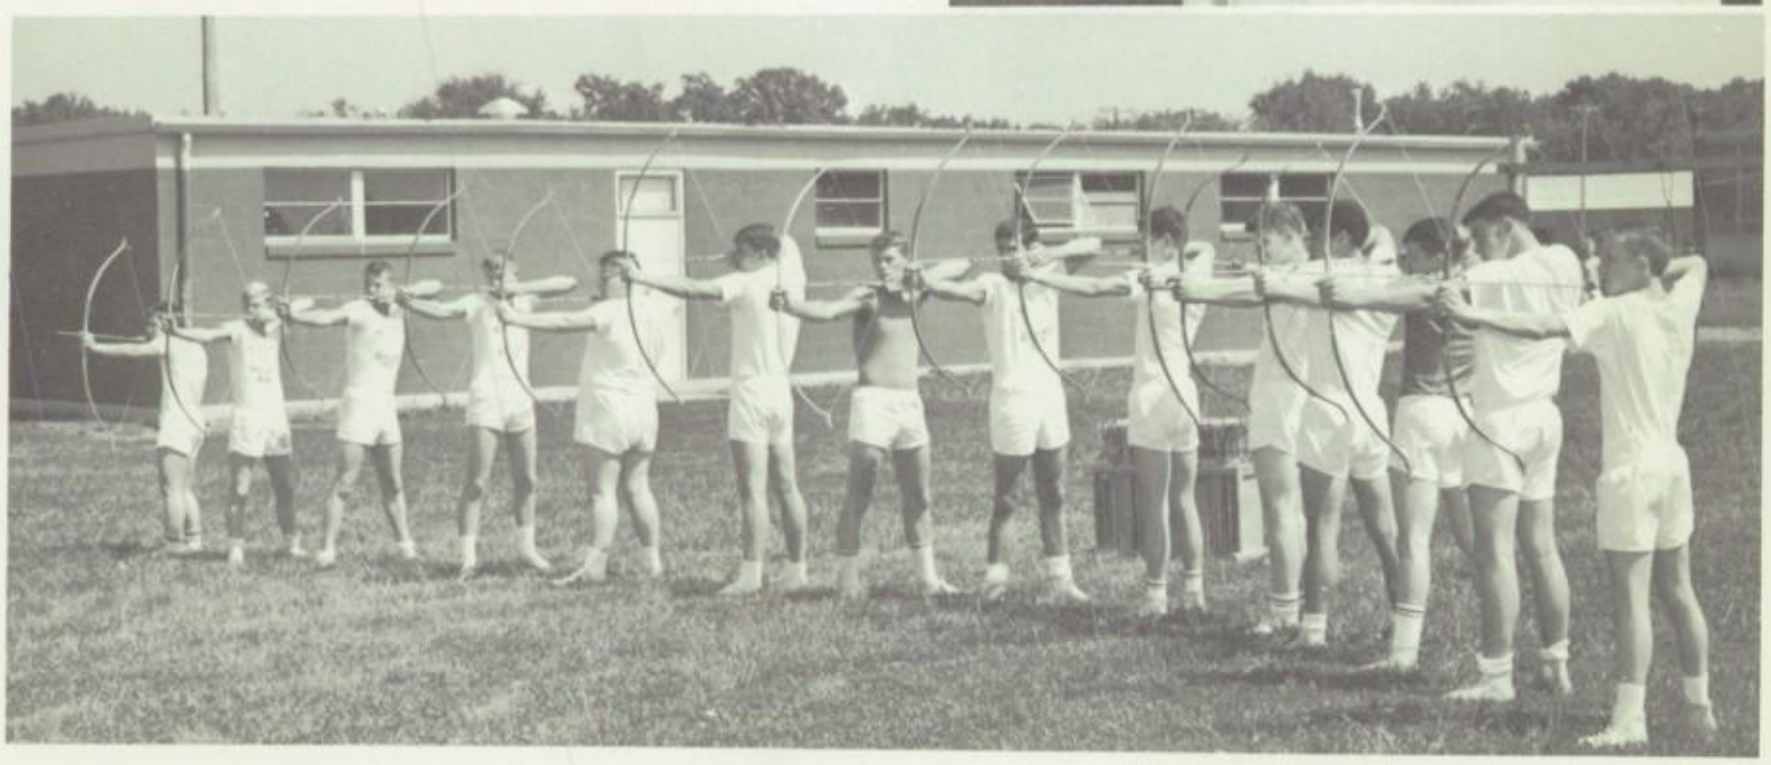
Mr. Nicholson lends a guiding hand to his physical education class.

What if the rope breaks???

Barbara Williams takes careful aim on the firing line.

Marilyn Carson and Bonnie Brown help Linda Schuyler over the horse.

The archery class is anxious to fire!



STUDENT

THE SEAMAN STUDENT COUNCIL, under a new system, is now composed of four elected students from each of the three classes. The advisors, Miss Ward, Mr. Lauffer, and Mr. Frederick, supervise the election meetings, and other activities of the council. Students work to better student-teacher and student-student relationships; to maintain and further develop the name, spirit, and tradition of Seaman High School; to stimulate scholastic achievement; and to provide a forum of student expression.

Students elected to the council must possess above-average civic responsibility in the home, school and community. Students must also maintain at least a "C" average in school work since representatives are respected and provide leadership for the entire student body.

Representatives to the student advisory council are sophomores--Connie Metz, Bernie Williams, Janice Smith, Larry Gregg; juniors--Sandy Brooks, Ann Lolley, Mike Estes, Russ Robinson; seniors--Susan McKay, Patricia Milliken, George Randall, and Ray Smith.

Among the accomplishments of the student advisory council are a new constitution and by-laws, a dress code, a successful winter formal, and student exchanges with local high schools. Dancing to the music of the Washburn Rural "Toppers" and strolling through a garden complete with a wishing well and goldfish added to the enthusiasm for the "Deep Purple Fantasy" winter formal. Students learned how other schools compared with Seaman through student exchanges with high schools of Topeka, sponsored by the student advisory council.

COUNCIL

Karen Eichman, Linda Burn, and Jan Bunds show some of the Student Council election posters.

"Deep Purple Fantasy" was enjoyed by all.

Projects and functions of the Student Council are checked by these sponsors and officers: Mr. Lauffer, Miss Ward, Mr. Frederick, Ray Smith, Mike Estes, and George Randall.

CLIPPER

FOR THE FIRST time in Seaman's history, THE CLIPPER was printed in Rossville, rather than typed here at Seaman.

First year journalism students were responsible for the feature section of THE CLIPPER, the entire final edition of the paper, and a Seaman course catalog.'

John Shove, Steve Kirkwood, and Alice Ferguson concentrate on laying out the paper.

Bates, Milliken, Mount, Pachosa, and Parks.

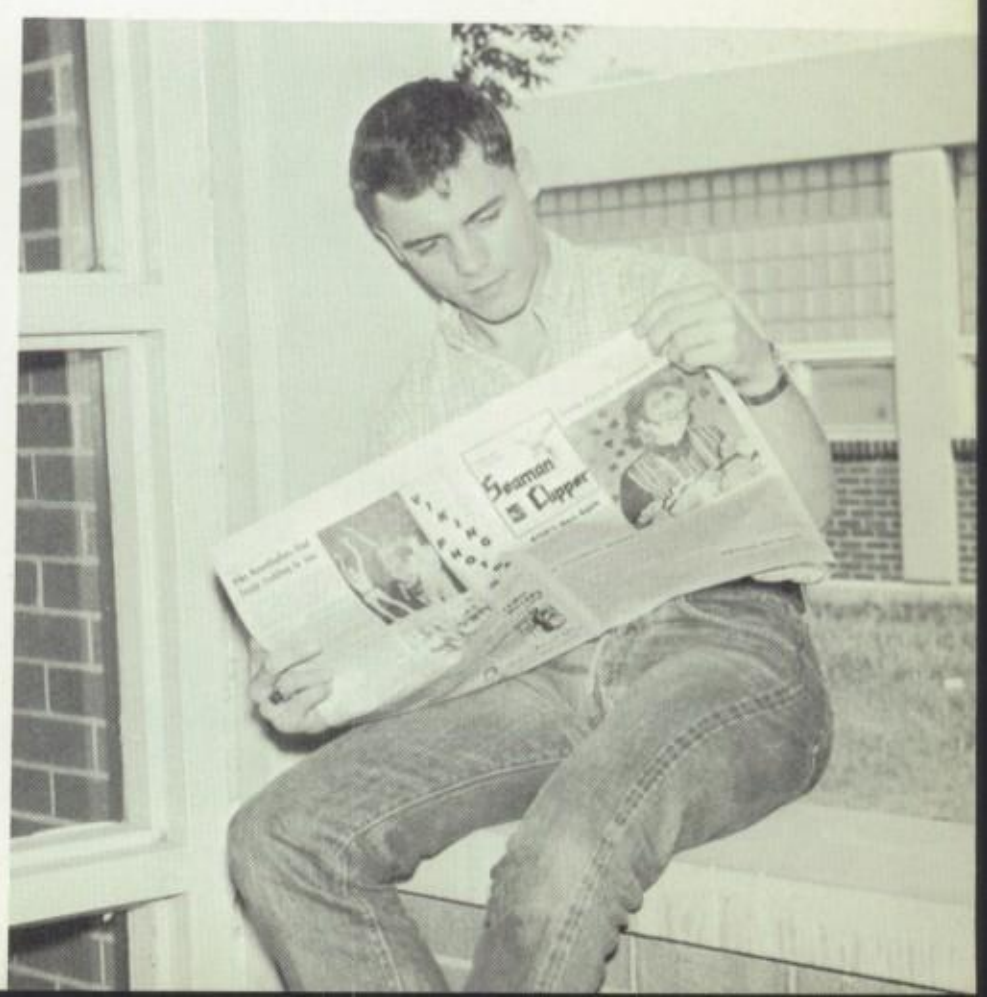
Susan McKay, editor, Mr. Mount, advisor, and Judy Brackett, assistant editor, discuss the feature article in THE CLIPPER.

THE SECOND year journalism class, under the supervision of Mr. James Mount, was responsible for the publication of the Seaman paper, THE CLIPPER, which was expanded to eight pages this year. The staff worked diligently to keep the student body informed of important events.

Shove, Tarwater, Brackett, Kirkwood, Woodrow, Ferguson, Everett, Jacobs, McKay, Schafer

John Shove waits patiently to make another sale.

Steve Pachosa pauses for a moment to read the latest edition of the Clipper.



BANK

UNDER THE direction of Miss Eunice Ward, Seaman students operate and maintain a successful bank offering banking facilities to all students and faculty members. During fourth hour each school day patrons may open a checking account, invest in stocks, or obtain a loan.

Miss Ward gives Jerry Glasgow some instructions about the books.

Neil Warner operates the calculator in banking class.

GROUPS, INDIVIDUALS

THE VIKING CLUB, one of Seaman's most reliable service clubs, contributes much time and money to Seaman. The tradition of the club was carried out through many projects and school improvements. The club added a field amplifier and loud speakers to the facilities of the present public address system, and a showcase was placed on the east side of the football field house for the purpose of displaying pictures of the football players. Other projects included:

1. Contribution to a portable microphone
2. Food for needy family
3. A band at homecoming and winter formal
4. Partial sponsorship of Halloween Party
5. File cases for Mr. Bierman and Mr. Emrich
6. Duffel bags for basketball team

Miss Cox congratulates Bonnie McDougal on obtaining her State Homemakers Degree.

Vance Morns and Sherry Kelly are in the process of earning their State Homemaker Degrees.

THE SEAMAN chapter of the F.H.A. strives to give its members leadership training. Activities contributing to this training included table service for the F.F.A. banquet, a trip to Kansas State University at Manhattan for hospitality day, registration responsibility at the state meeting, selection of delegates to district meeting, presentation of Simplicity style show, co-sponsor with F.F.A. Hootenanny, all-school party, and the Homecoming dance in October. These were in addition to regular duties of officers for one regular club meeting a month.

FRENCH CLUB

Seek Bi-Lingual Ease

THE FRENCH CLUB, under the direction of Miss Barbara Medford, provided an interesting activity for those students interested in the French language. A weekend trip to Chicago climaxed the French Club activities for the year. Members joined with Math Club members for two separate trips, the girls on April 17-19 and the boys on May 15-17. The main attractions visited were the Museum of Science and Industry, the Museum of Natural History, and Chinatown. The group had a spring banquet honoring their seniors. On November 19, the club presented to its amused audience, This Ghost Business, a three act comedy. J. C. Perrin, a student from France, was one of their interesting speakers.

ART CLUB TAKES ON PROJECTS

THROUGH the efforts of the Seaman Art Club the student body was kept well informed of school current events. Projects completed during the year included posters for football, basketball, gymnastics, wrestling, school parties, and miscellaneous activities. Two community projects are annual work for the Seaman Congregational Church and North Topeka Kiwanis. The Art Club also sponsored the annual sale of Viking decals.

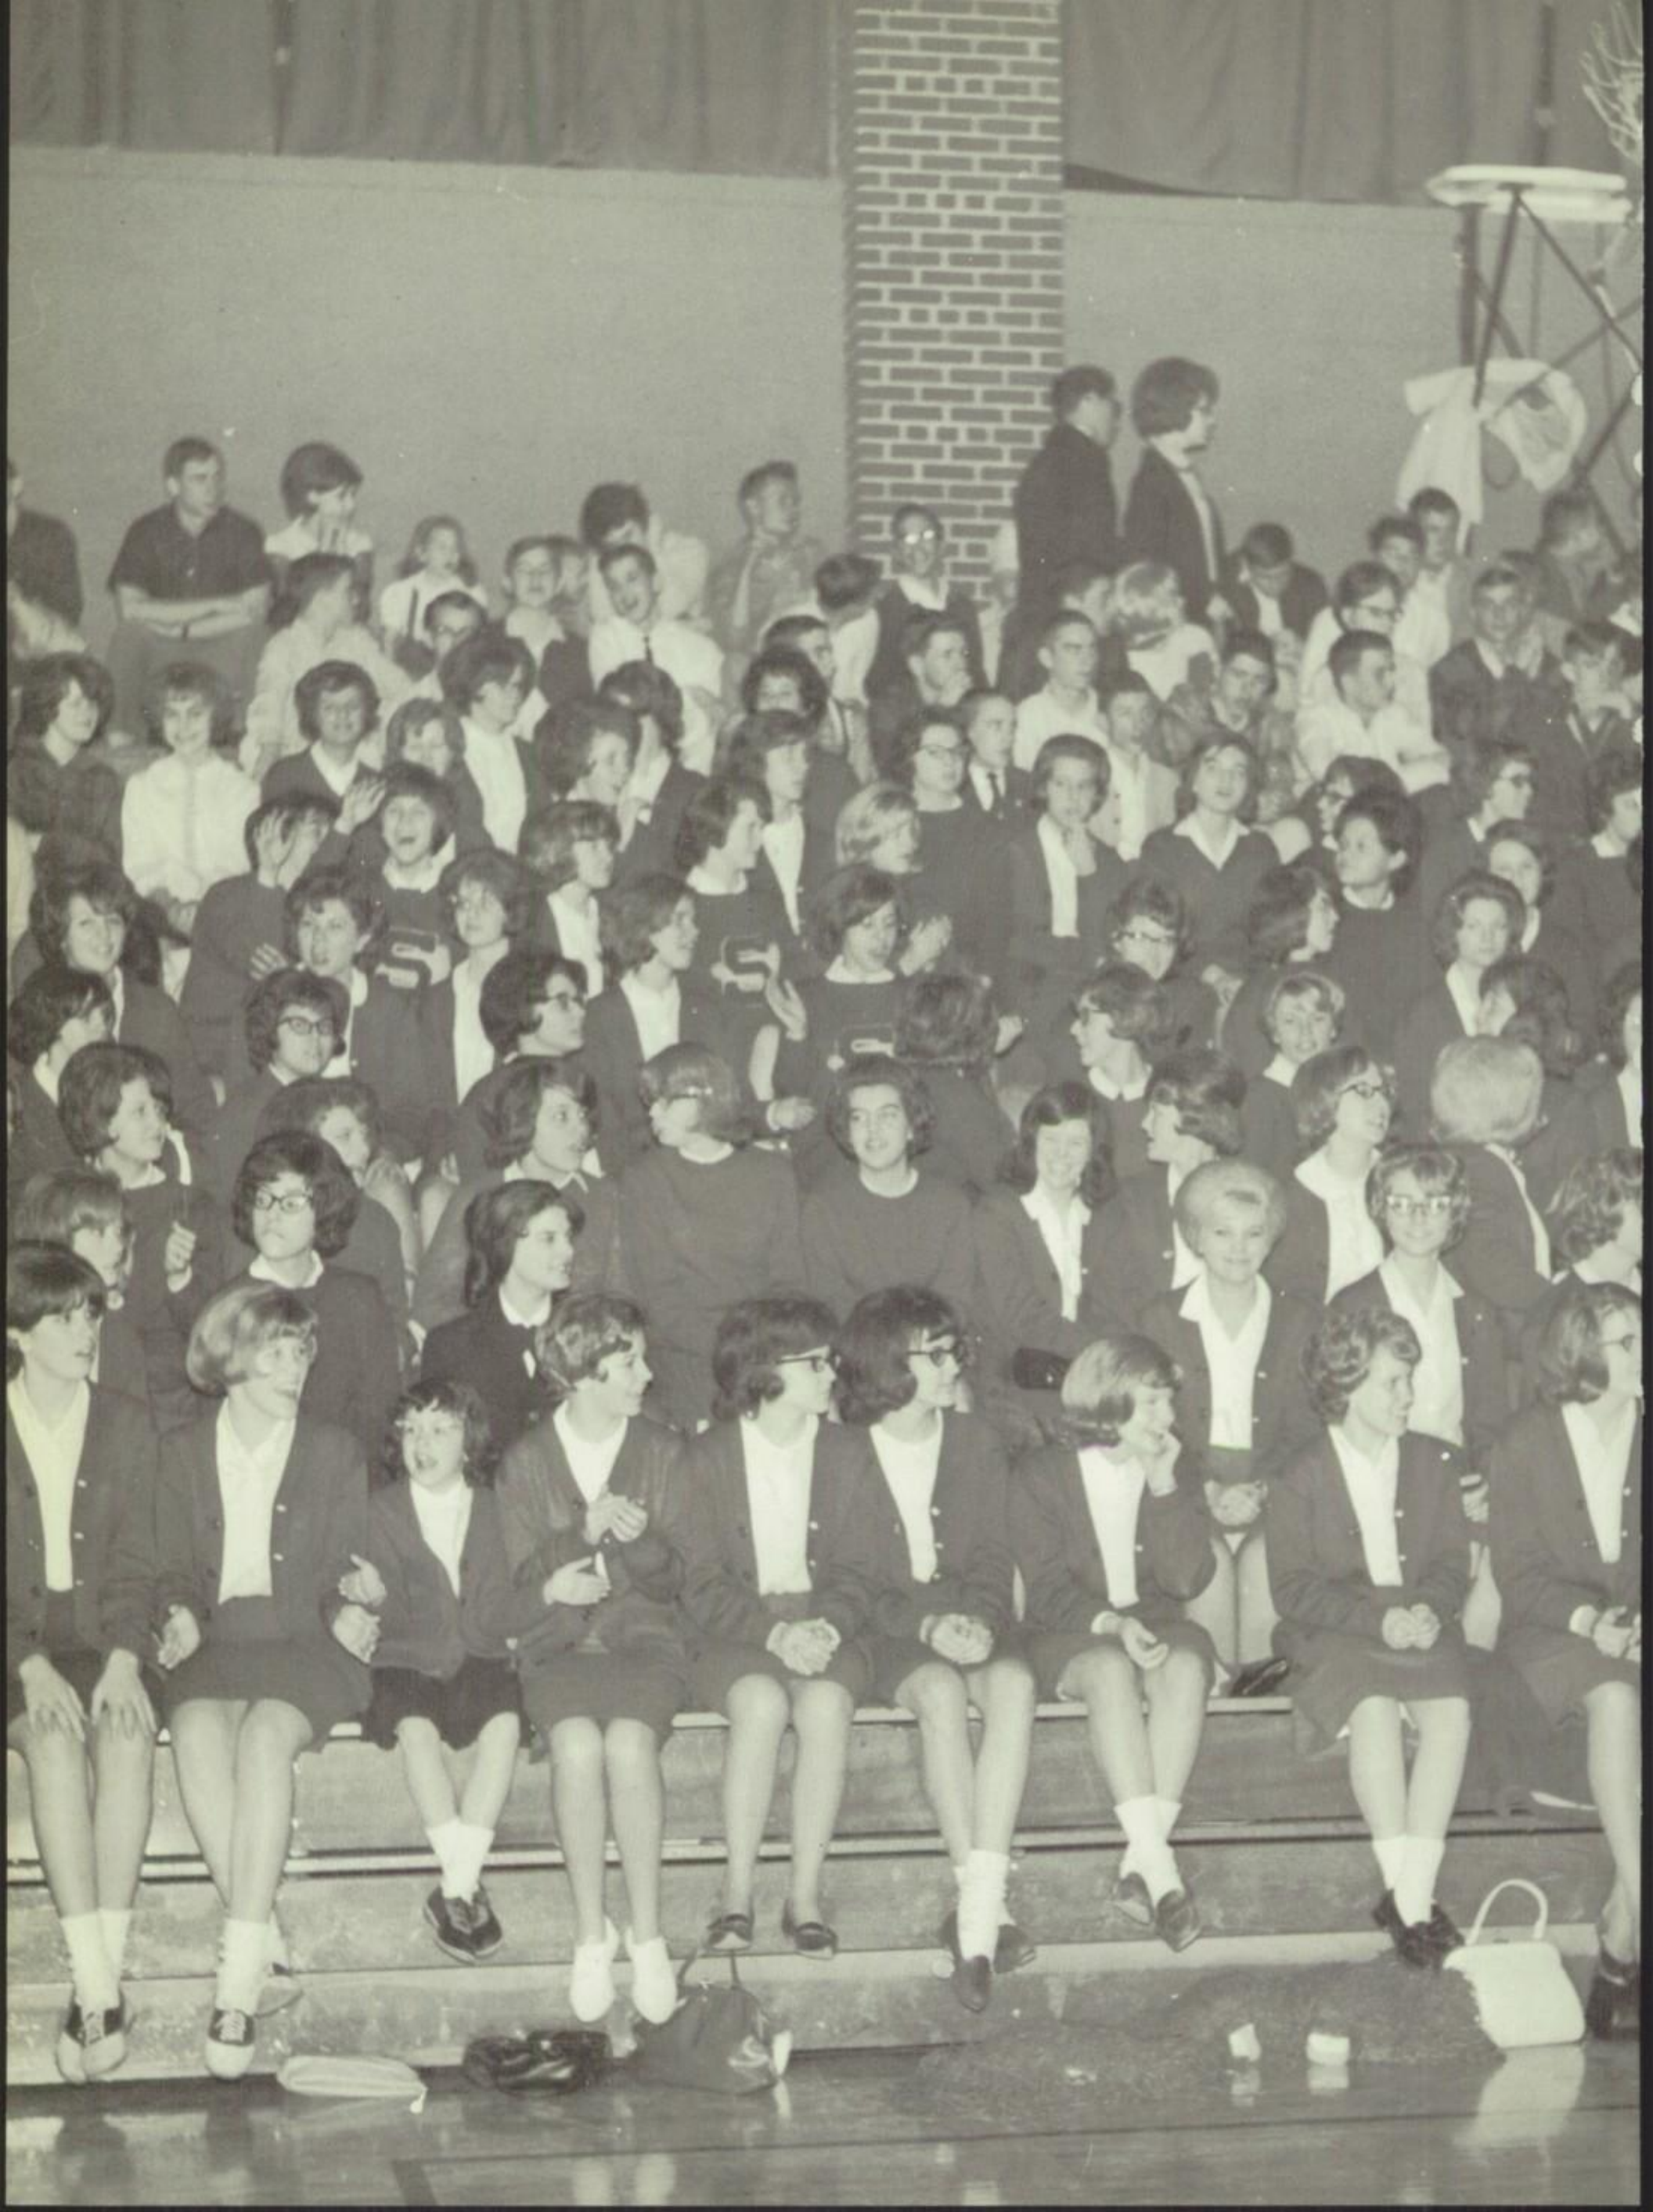
Cheerleaders

HEAD cheerleader Linda Burn, and cheerleaders Jan Bunds, Barbara Bates, Elayne Johnson, Sue Carlson, and Paula Cowan led Seaman in a season of school spirit. The girls began a busy schedule by attending a cheerleading camp in Dallas, August 18-25, where they took fourth place in group competition.

This is the first year for six cheerleaders, and they showed off another first with new uniforms for the basketball season.

The cheerleaders have a bigger job than looking happy and leading cheers. They must represent the school wherever they travel. Many hours of practicing cheers must be accomplished on their own time, and they are expected to maintain a high grade average.

Janice Lytle, Vicki McGue,
Donna Coleman, Barbara Stadler.



PEP CLUB EXCELS IN SCHOOL SPIRIT

AMID the roaring crowd, the Seaman Pep Club could be heard cheering the Vikings on to victory. The pep club, overflowing with enthusiasm, helped to keep school spirit at its peak throughout the school year, organizing and promoting and fostering inter-school cooperation.

Members of the Honor Pep assisted the Seaman Quarterback Club by selling season football tickets. Linda Burn and Pattie McNorton were top salesmen and received cash prizes.

During the holiday season, members of the club went on a Christmas caroling trip to the homes of former faculty members and school board members.

The club sponsored the annual "Women Pay All" week from February 21-27. After the Vikes defeated the Scotties on February 21, the Hi-Lites supplied the music for an all school varsity. On February 25, the club sponsored a "World's Fair" party at which Frances Hersh and Bob Hixson were given prizes for the best costumes representing countries of the world.

The cheerleaders start off the season with a good luck cheer.

The cheerleaders and honor pep form a gigantic "T" for the first assembly.

THE HOMECOMING performance was the highlight of the year for the Seaman Vikettes. Escorting the royalty and their attendants to the center of the field, they formed a "V" inside the large football made by the pep club and released balloons when the queen was crowned. The girls, under the direction of Miss Marcia Glick, provided half-time entertainment for many football and basketball games. Drill-masters for the group were Linda Wilson and Sheryl McVay.

The Vikettes perform one of their difficult routines.

Drill masters, Linda Wilson and Cheryl McVay, discuss future drill team plans with Miss Glick.

HOMECOMING

KING AND QUEEN

BREATHLESS expectations could be sensed in everyone on the crisp fall night of October 18, when Linda Burn and Ray Smith were crowned Queen and King of the homecoming activities at Seaman High. The ceremony was held at half time on the Viking football field. Attired in a light blue mohair suit, the attractive Queen was presented with a bouquet of red roses, white carnations, and chrysanthemums.

The Pep Club formed a gigantic football on the field with a heart of band members inside the football. The Vikettes and cheerleaders led the candidates into the formation where crownbearers, Pamela Denise Chiarello and Jeffery Lance Mount, assisted Alice Ferguson, president of the Pep Club, in crowning the royalty.

THE LAW of averages finally caught up Seaman's football team. Playing one of the toughest schedules in the school's history, the team finished with two wins and seven losses.

After coming to Seaman in 1960, coach Mike Hyrnewich took over the head coaching job this season. In his previous two years at Seaman he was assistant coach under coach Bernie Beirman, who is now athletic director.

With only three returning lettermen, Seaman battled with the new formation of the "T". Playing single wing the past eight years, the Vikes had trouble adjusting to the "T" formation.

With 16 lettermen returning next season, the outlook is very promising. Coach Hyrnewich feels the experience gained this year will be a great asset next season.

BASKETBALL FINISHES

Coach Carlson offers team members his hand for a job well done.

SEAMAN had a successful basketball season under new Viking Coach Tom Carlson, finishing in a tie for third place in the Centennial League, and compiling a record of 12 wins and 8 losses.

The Vikes started the season against a new competitor, Topeka West and topped the Chargers with a stunning 55 to 54 victory.

In mid-season Seaman journeyed to the three day Campus High Tournament at Wichita. Playing with some of the top teams in the state, Seaman captured fourth place.

With a team instilled with hustle and determination, Mr. Carlson labeled his first high school season successful.

Coach Hrynewich and Edson discuss basketball tactics.

Manager Carlin Eyman was kept busy with never-ending duties.

RAY SMITH finished first in the state wrestling tournament in the 165 pound class. Seaman, with one representative in the state meet at Colby scored 12 points to finish in a tie for 14th place.

Smith was the only Viking to place in the regional at Wichita South High School although Seaman was well represented with five grapplers finishing fourth in the 95 pound class: Mike Estes, third in the 138 pound class; Mike Blodgett, fourth in the 145 pound class; Steve Henderson, third in the 154 pound class; and Ray Smith, first in the 165 pound class.

Seaman posted a 5-2-1 record this year.

Dick Martin demonstrates a shoulder stand.

FREE EXERCISE, the side horse, horizontal bar, parallel bar, rings, tumbling, and the trampoline are the tools of the gymnists. Two years ago, no one at Seaman, including Coach Nicholson, knew anything about gymnastics. Since then, our boy's gymnastics team has advanced to second in the league. They will return in full force next year with nine lettermen.

The girls' gymnastics team, new this year, gained valuable experience from an active year. They share the same apparatus as the boys with the exception of rings, parallel bars, and the horse.

The girls gymnastics team consists of McNeive, Ortega, Robinson, Mize, Koch, Miller, Brenner, Serene, Hidalgo, Pottorf.

Mary Hidalgo shows team mates how to do the back flip.

TENNIS

COACH EICHMAN had a few comments to make about the season. "Due to lack of experience we had a rather rough season, losing all four matches. In the near future, we hope to have courts of our own to practice and play on. This would give us some chance of participating with the other schools on a more nearly equal basis."

The season closed with eight boys out. Six will be returning next year.

Seaman's seasonal record was: Washburn Rural over Seaman 7-2; Hayden over Seaman 9-0; Highland Park over Seaman 9-0; Shawnee Heights over Seaman 7-2.

Seaman won three matches and ended up with fifth place honors in the Centennial League.

Coach Eichman gives a few pointers to Fritz Henderson.

TRACK

ENGEL CRACKS OLDEST SCHOOL TRACK RECORD

UNDER new track coach Don Hoch, junior miler Mike Engel lowered the school record by almost three seconds, setting the pace at 4:44.2, in the Centennial League Track Meet. The old record of 4:47 was set by Vern Bistline in 1937.

MIKE finished strong behind some stiff competition in the Regional Track Meet; teammate Jim Bengston finished third in the 440 yard dash, which enabled him to participate in the State Track Meet.

"I EXPECT maximum effort out of the boys." This is the philosophy Coach Nicholson used in training his team. The cross country team increased their times considerably and showed much improvement this year.

On an unusually warm day in October, the league meet was held on the Vike's home course, with the Vikings finishing a strong second behind Hayden.

Bill Juneau, Seaman junior, broke his own school record with a flashing 11:00.2 at the Ottawa Invitational Tournament.

Hard work pays off for Steve Ostrander.

The Vikes take off with two miles to go.

INSTRUMENTAL DEPARTMENT

THE 1963-64 year marked a welcome change in the instrumental department. With the addition of a choral instructor. Mr. Stroud can now devote more time towards the direction of the instrumental department.

The answer to a long-time dream was acquired with the installation of new file cabinets in the combined office of Mr. Stroud and Mr. Hamble, enabling them to file the music materials with more efficiency.

The 1963-64 marching band provided entertainment for half-time football games and attended band days last fall at Kansas State University, Emporia State Teachers College, and the University of Kansas. Following the marching season, the pep band played for the basketball games, contributing pep and enthusiasm to the school spirit.

GROW WITH WASHBURN UNIVERSITY

WASHBURN is growing. Among its 15 buildings is a new science hall with planetarium, observatory, telescope, and laboratories. By 1965 and Washburn's centennial, a new fine arts center will be under construction.

WASHBURN give YOU a chance to grow, too. Its atmosphere is one of friendliness. With 2, 400 daytime and 1, 300 evening students, it is large enough to offer a variety of courses, but not so large that you are "lost in the crowd."

WASHBURN'S liberal arts program offers degrees in art, sciences, business, education, music, languages, physical education, sociology, theater. You may get pre-professional training in engineering, law, medicine, dentistry, or social work or get a graduate degree in elementary education or law. Summer sessions have day and evening classes, a theater, and education workshops.

George,
Good Luck always.
It's really been great knowing you
& having a friend for all these years. You're a swell guy and
I know you always do well.

Don Forrester

George
Best of luck to a real swell guy.
Remember all the fun we had on campus
Keep up the record.

A friend
Rodolfo Guerra

George Luck always
Best of luck in whatever
Always be. Never forget old you
Seaman 1/c

George,
I will always remember the first time we went to the shore and laughed and laughed and laughed. You are a real good guy George.
Your friend,
Don Stork

George,
Best of luck always to a real swell guy. Be good
(if possible) and take good care of Vicki
She is a real sweet gal.

a friend always (& hope)
Lana Harrold

George,
I want to wish
the ~~Lee~~ very best of luck to a wonderful
boy. I hope you never change! Be good & have a blast
at college.
